

CBS 21 - Search Results

The following is an archived video story. The text content of that video story is available below for reference. The original video is deleted and is no longer available.

Youth pastor charged with sex crimes against teen boy

Reported by: Christina Butler

LANCASTER -- A Lancaster County youth group pastor and high school basketball coach is locked up, accused of sexually abusing a teen boy.

Jonathan Masteller faces several charges. The alleged abuse was discovered after pictures were found on his work laptop.

Twenty-three-year-old Masteller was arrested after a coworker called police on him.

Masteller works at the family center in Gap. Police say a coworker found pictures of him engaging in sex acts with a boy on his computer.

The boy told police Masteller was his former youth pastor and current basketball coach at Pequea Valley High School.

The boy said when he was 12 and 13, Masteller forced sex acts on him at least four times and would use his cell phone to take pictures.

The boy says it occurred inside Masteller's home in Kinzers.